HOTEL TIPS:

Call ahead: Call to reconfirm your room a day or two prior and advise your approximate arrival time. Request an early check-in when making reservations, should you require it.

Call to cancel: In case you may have to cancel, be aware of the advance notice required to avoid penalties. The norm is 48 hours prior to arrival.

Upgrading: Consider upgrading to business-floor rooms, often well-worth the additional cost and convenience, with services like breakfast, cocktail hour, fax and newspaper services, waived phone fees.

Laptops: if you need to use it, get or send e-mail or faxes, make sure your room has two phone lines and a data jack. (Bring an extension cord if WiFi is unavailable)

Fitness: If using the hotel's fitness center, find out whether it is on-site, free to guests, and is open late.

VEHICLE RENTAL TIPS:

Ask for a non-smoking vehicle if you are a non-smoker. Likewise, non-smoking vehicles are usually the newer models in the fleet.

Call ahead: Reconfirm your reservation.

Insurance: Don't purchase the optional coverage if using a credit card that already provides these services.

TRAVELING SAFE:

- Crime is a potential hazard anywhere in the world. Don't attract attention. Older and more affluent-looking travelers will attract more attention – consider dressing down.
- Theft is apt to occur where large numbers of people congregate – at airports, tourist attractions, etc. Be aware.
- Be careful with how/where you carry money and valuables, and carry as little as possible with you. Do not pack valuable documents in your luggage, carry these with you.
- Inventory your credit card numbers, and know where to call in case they're lost or stolen.
- Don't leave your luggage/belongings unattended.
- Don't leave luggage/valuables in a rental vehicle, unless locked in a concealed trunk.
- Men should beware of relying on the safety of their wallet in their back pocket.
- Women should carry handbags with the flap turned toward them against the hip, or in front of them. Keep one hand on handbags at all times.
- Carry valuables in different places, so that if you are robbed, you increase the chance of not losing everything.
- If traveling with a passport, keep a photocopy elsewhere.
- Keep prescription medication in original containers, clearly labeled (to avoid suspicion of having illegal substances)
- Travel with lockable luggage, and pack a spare lock/key

MAXIMIZING THE BENEFITS OF VACATIONING

Let go of your need to control: Those returning home relaxed and refreshed are persons who are flexible during their travels, and are open to whatever might come.

Accept change: Change is part of life, and things don't always go according to plan. Likewise, it's the unexpected that often makes the most memorable vacations. Accept change or the unexpected with a positive outlook rather than a negative one.

Go with the flow: Relax your expectations – you're on vacation. Part of the positive attributes of a vacation is not living according to the same daily routine you otherwise maintain.
